

Girls Basketball Season Outlook- Joseph Cline

The Boyd County Girls Basketball Team has had a great turnout for this basketball season with 19 girls. Seth Miller, the head coach for this season, states, "I anticipate some growing pains while we learn a new system throughout the year. I do know that we will go out and play hard and together. We open up with some tough games right off the bat. Crofton, St. Mary's, and Niobrara-Verdigre all made it to state last year and Ainsworth and Elgin will be tough too. Our main concern though isn't who we are playing, but going out and competing to the best of our abilities". Coach Miller also says that their goal for this season is for the girls to become the best version of themselves by the end of the season. The girls' first game is scheduled to be on December 1st in Springview, so come out and support your Lady Spartans!

Boys Basketball- Landon Jenson

Coach Carlson and Coach Wright said they have a good turn out this year with about 22 players this season. The coaches stated that the season will be challenging but they will try to compete at a high level this year with the hardest teams being Elkhorn Valley or Elgin Public-Pope John. They want to be better everyday and would like to play multiple games in the conference tournament this year, hoping to finish at, or above, .500. We all can't wait to see the amazing things this season has in store for Boyd County Boys Basketball. The first boys basketball game is December 1st at North Central, so come out and support our Spartan Basketball!

Aberdeen Art Workshop- Mimi Collins

On November 1st, Mrs. Hyatt and ten of Boyd County's art students went to Aberdeen, SD to participate in activities such as; Gelli-Plate Printing, Drawing, Ceramics, TV Production and Editing, Black and White Film Photography, and Material Exploration. The students also got a tour of two art displays, and some of the different art rooms that they would be going to for the activities. After the first workshop the students ate lunch at the campus cafeteria. Once they were done with their lunch they did their second activity of the day. At the end of the day, all of the students gathered in the auditorium where the professors announced the winners of the art competitions that were held during the day.

NVC One Act- Adrien Baer

Mrs. Hausmann and Mrs. Thaler took the One Act Team to Chambers on November, 15th to compete in the NVC One Act competition. The play that was performed by our One Act team was "The Complaint Department and Lemonade". The students stated that they did need to pick up the speed of the play but had a good time at this particular meet. The team has voiced some concerns with their production, but think that they can compete at districts if they are willing to try their hardest. Mrs. Thaler said that this group has been working diligently for the last month to make the play enjoyable and entertaining. With that being said, District One Act will take place November 28th in Elkhorn at Elkhorn Valley High School.

November Kindness Awards- Gage Keys

The winner of the November Kindness Awards was Lexy Tikalsky. Lexy won this award for always being willing to help other students and staff in the hallway and classes. She also always uplifts people and puts them up whenever she can. Lexy has won a week of eating ahead of everyone else, a king sized Hershey candy bar, and a couple of meat sticks given by the BC Student Senate. Keep up the positivity Lexy!
